Case No. 19-cv-4082

The Hon. Sara L. Ellis

Magistrate Judge Sunil R. Harjani

SECOND AMENDED CIVIL RIGHTS COMPLAINT

Plaintiff, MARCEL BROWN, by his undersigned attorneys, complains of Defendants, CITY OF CHICAGO; Chicago Police Detectives MICHAEL MANCUSO, GARRICK TURNER, RUBIN WEBER, STEVE CZABLEWSKI, and WILLIAM BURKE; GERI YANOW, Personal Representative of the Estate of deceased Chicago Police Detective KEVIN McDONALD; COUNTY OF COOK, ILLINOIS; and Assistant State’s Attorney MICHELLE SPIZZIRRI, as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. In 2011, Marcel Brown was convicted on an accountability theory of the murder of Paris Jackson in Amundsen Park in the City of Chicago on the night of August 30, 2008, a crime he did not commit. Arrested at the age of 18, he spent nearly a decade in prison before ultimately being exonerated and certified innocent.

2. Marcel Brown's wrongful conviction was no accident. Determined to close a murder case, the Defendants—the Defendant Officers and Defendant Assistant State's Attorney Michelle Spizzirri—coerced false and inculpatory statements from Plaintiff. The Defendant Officers also fabricated evidence and withheld exculpatory evidence from the trial prosecutor and from the defense that would have prevented Plaintiff's conviction.

3. As a result of the Defendants' misconduct, Marcel Brown was charged and wrongfully convicted, and sentenced to 35 years in prison.

4. Seven years after he was convicted, and nearly 10 years after being arrested and taken into custody by the Defendant Officers, the charges against Marcel Brown were dropped following a hearing in which it was determined that certain inculpatory statements used to convict him had been obtained in clear violation of law.

5. The misconduct that gave rise to Marcel Brown's wrongful prosecution and conviction was not an aberration. The Chicago Police Department ("CPD") has for many years tolerated and even rewarded Police detectives who "solve" serious crimes, including homicides, via coercive interrogations, frequently targeting young, African-American men and boys, and thereby closing and clearing unresolved cases while avoiding the effort and engagement that would be necessary to develop evidence and identify the true perpetrators.

6. Plaintiff Marcel Brown now files this civil rights action to bring the Defendants' misconduct to light, and to ensure that they are held accountable for their misconduct. Although Plaintiff has won back his freedom, he will never regain the lost years in which he was incarcerated for a crime he did not commit. This lawsuit seeks redress for these grievous injuries.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. This action is brought pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to redress the deprivation under color of law of Plaintiff's rights as secured by the United States Constitution.

8. This Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1367. Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b). The events giving rise to the claims asserted herein occurred in this judicial district, the parties reside in this district, and Defendant City of Chicago is a municipal corporation located here.

PARTIES

9. Plaintiff Marcel Brown is a 29 year old African-American man who now resides in Cook County, Illinois. In August 2008, when he was arrested and falsely charged with the murder of Paris Jackson, Marcel was a recent high school graduate.

10. At all relevant times, Defendants Michael Mancuso, Garrick Turner, Rubin Weber, Steve Czablewski and William Burke were officers with the CPD, employed by Defendant City of Chicago, and acting within the scope of their employment. They are sued in their individual capacities.

11. At all relevant times Kevin McDonald, now deceased, was an officer with the CPD, employed by Defendant City of Chicago, and acting within the scope of his employment. Geri Yanow, the Personal Representative of Mr. McDonald's Estate, appointed pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/13-209(b)(2), has been named in this action to represent Mr. McDonald's interests in connection with the City's obligation to indemnify for any wrongdoing Mr. McDonald may be found to have committed. Mr. McDonald and the police officers listed in the preceding paragraph are referred to collectively as "Defendant Officers."

12. At all relevant times, Defendant Michelle Spizzirri was an Assistant State's Attorney in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. She is sued in her individual capacity.

13. Defendant City of Chicago is a municipal corporation under the laws of the State of Illinois.

14. Defendant Cook County is a governmental entity within the State of Illinois, and it is obligated to indemnify employees of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office.

FACTS

Mystery Surrounds the Death of Paris Jackson

15. At about 9 a.m. on the morning of August 31, 2008, a Chicago Park District worker discovered the body of Paris Jackson lying on a grate immediately behind the fieldhouse at Amundsen Park on the west side of Chicago. Jackson had obviously been the victim of a shooting; there were bullet wounds on the front and rear sides of his upper torso.

16. There was no evidence at the location of Jackson's body to suggest who was responsible for the gunshot wounds. There was no murder weapon. There was no sign of bullet strikes against the fieldhouse building behind Jackson's body. No shell casings or ballistic evidence of any kind was found near the body. Investigators identified what they believed might be a few droplets of blood in the vicinity of the body, but they did not confirm by testing that the droplets were blood or, if they were, whose blood it was.

17. Later on August 31, one Marisol Ocampo, a young woman who had been at the Park the night before, was taken to the CPD detective headquarters at Grand and Central and subjected to questioning. She told the Defendant Officers that a boy she knew as RJ had arrived at the Park in a gold-colored Chevrolet Malibu with two other boys and that RJ and one other person had gotten out of the car. According to the Defendant Officers' reports, Ms. Ocampo related that RJ was involved in a confrontation regarding whether others in the Park had been bothering RJ's sister, Taneshia Branch. According to the Defendant Officers' reports, Ms. Ocampo stated that RJ asked his sister Taneshia who was bothering her. Ms. Ocampo, according to the reports, went on to falsely state that, without provocation, RJ then began shooting in the direction of a group of young men who were running away. According to Ms. Ocampo, one of these young men was Eugene Staniel, the father of Ms. Ocampo's children.

18. During questioning at the detective headquarters, Ms. Ocampo produced photographs of RJ and Plaintiff taken from MySpace. Ms. Ocampo said that Plaintiff was the driver of the Chevrolet Malibu.

19. Ms. Ocampo was vulnerable to pressure and manipulation from the Defendant Officers. Evidence suggested that she had participated in a stabbing that occurred on Meade Street just outside of Amundsen Park that same night. For reasons that have never been disclosed, Ms. Ocampo was not charged with that crime.

20. In addition, Ms. Ocampo was not a disinterested witness. As the Defendant Officers knew, there were two groups of young women in the Park that night who had a history of conflict, one group led by Ms. Ocampo, the other led by Taneshia Branch (RJ's sister). Accounts regarding RJ's actions—specifically whether he had fired a weapon and, if he had, whether he had done so in response to shots that were first fired at him—mostly differed based on the affiliations of the witnesses.

21. In fact, RJ (whose real name was Renard Branch and who is Plaintiff's cousin) was not responsible for Paris Jackson's death.

22. At the time RJ arrived at Amundsen Park, Paris Jackson was with a group of young men playing dice near a baseball diamond some distance behind the Park fieldhouse. As soon as he spotted RJ, Rufus McGee, one of the young men in Paris Jackson's group, ordered his group to begin firing at RJ.

23. When one or two members of that group opened fire, RJ took cover behind a tree and fired back in the direction of the bullets coming toward him.

24. But RJ's fire did not strike Paris Jackson. Paris was standing near the corner of the Amundsen Park gym, at a location where it was impossible for RJ's bullets to hit him. When, moments later, RJ fled from the Park, Paris was still alive and well.

25. Consistent with Rufus McGee's account, and despite the coercive tactics that the Defendant Officers employed against a number of witnesses, not a single witness has ever come forward to claim that they saw Paris Jackson struck by a bullet that RJ fired.

26. As a result of the exchange of gunfire, a number of citizens made calls to the Chicago Police emergency number. Officers were dispatched to the Park and searched the area, including behind the fieldhouse. No officer observed a body. Where and when Paris Jackson was shot on the night of August 30 remains an unsolved mystery.

27. Plaintiff was the driver of the Chevrolet Malibu that carried RJ and one other boy, Terry ("TJ") Scott (also a cousin of Plaintiff and RJ), to Amundsen Park; the car belonged to Plaintiff's mother. Plaintiff had no knowledge that RJ was armed when Plaintiff drove RJ to the Park.

28. No witness claimed that Plaintiff possessed a gun on the night of August 30. No witness claimed that Plaintiff was with RJ at the time RJ reportedly fired shots.

29. Most of those questioned by the Defendant Officers had no recollection of seeing Plaintiff in the Park on the night in question.

30. Plaintiff did not enter the Park with RJ and Plaintiff had no involvement whatsoever in the exchange of gunfire between RJ and the young men in Rufus McGee's group.

Defendant Officers Fabricate Evidence and Suppress Exculpatory Evidence
In Order to Build a Murder Case Against RJ and Plaintiff

31. The Defendant Officers were determined to solve the Paris Jackson homicide without delay and with minimal effort. They set about to use the story they had developed from Marisol Ocampo to create a case against RJ. The Defendant Officers encouraged and coerced witnesses who had been at the Park to adopt their theory that RJ was the only person in Amundsen Park who had a gun on the night of August 30; that RJ fired a handgun repeatedly without provocation; that RJ therefore was the only person who could have shot and killed Paris Jackson; and that RJ did so without justification. In order to support and sustain this theory, the Defendant Officers pressured and coerced witnesses and suppressed and concealed any information that countered their chosen theory.

32. Rufus McGee told the Defendant Officers in an interview on or about August 31, 2008 that RJ and Plaintiff were not responsible for Paris's death. The Defendant Officers refused to accept this information and pressured Mr. McGee to name RJ as the person who had killed Paris. When Mr. McGee would not adopt this account, the Defendant Officers prepared a report falsely stating, in essence, that Mr. McGee had no pertinent information and thereby concealed and suppressed critically important evidence that was exculpatory of both RJ and Plaintiff.

33. On or about August 31, the Defendant Officers questioned Eugene Staniel, a young man with whom RJ had supposedly argued prior to brandishing a handgun and opening fire, about what had happened in the Park the night of August 30. Staniel informed the Defendant Officers that he had not seen anyone possess or shoot a weapon in the Park the night of August 30, although he had heard shots emanating from behind the fieldhouse. The Defendant Officers responded with threats, telling Staniel that Marisol Ocampo, the mother of his children, would be charged with a crime if he did not cooperate and that his children would be taken away.

34. In response to these coercive tactics, Staniel adopted the story that RJ had pointed a gun at him and had fired without provocation at the group of young men behind the fieldhouse. The Defendant Officers fabricated this evidence. The Defendant Officers also concealed and suppressed the critical exculpatory evidence that Staniel had stated to them, prior to being subjected to the Defendant Officers' coercion, that Staniel did not see anyone in the Park with a gun on the night in question.

35. TJ Scott, the third boy who arrived in the Chevrolet Malibu, entered the Park at RJ's side. The Defendant Officers coerced and threatened TJ until he agreed to make a statement that RJ had shot in the direction of the young men behind the fieldhouse without provocation and their report included this fabricated statement. Although the Defendant Officers' report acknowledged that TJ's account had changed in the course of their questioning, the report omitted any reference to the coercion that the Defendant Officers had employed, thereby suppressing and concealing that exculpatory information.

36. Throughout the investigation, the Defendant Officers studiously avoided hearing from witnesses who had seen and heard gunfire from behind the fieldhouse before RJ ever shot his gun. The Defendant Officers interviewed nearly all of the young women in Marisol Ocampo's group, who told the same story as Ocampo that RJ was the one who started the shooting.

37. But the Defendant Officers failed to interview and document information from many of the young women in Taneshia Branch's group. The Defendant Officers' reports stated or implied that these witnesses were refusing to cooperate when, in fact, they were able and willing to confirm that RJ shot a handgun but did so only after shots had been fired in his direction from behind the fieldhouse.

38. Using the information from Ocampo-affiliated witnesses and the false statement they had coerced from Staniel, the Defendant Officers were able to fabricate a murder case against RJ. But to charge Plaintiff, they needed evidence that he had foreknowledge that RJ possessed a weapon and planned to use it in Amundsen Park on the night in question. To that end, the Defendant Officers set about to coerce false, inculpatory statements from Plaintiff.

Officers Arrest, Interrogate, and Obtain a False and Involuntary Inculpatory Statement from Plaintiff

39. At around 3:00 p.m. on September 3, 2008, the Defendant Officers arrested Plaintiff, then 18 years old, at his home and transported him to the detective headquarters at Grand and Central, where they confined him in an interrogation room for a period of more than 34 hours. During that time they, in conspiracy with Defendant Spizzirri, relentlessly employed coercive interrogation practices and techniques to overbear Plaintiff's will and coerce him into making false statements inculcating himself in a supposed plan by RJ to shoot young men in Amundsen Park who were bothering RJ's sister Taneshia. The interrogation was recorded on video.

40. The Defendant Officers' coercive interrogation techniques included isolating Plaintiff from all contact with the outside world. For a day and a half, Plaintiff lived in a windowless, barren room behind a locked door while he was subjected to tag-team questioning by the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri. Plaintiff repeatedly asked to make a phone call to his mother over the course of these many hours. The Defendant Officers refused or ignored these requests. In doing so, the Defendant Officers knowingly and deliberately violated Plaintiff's right pursuant to Illinois statute to make a reasonable number of telephone calls. See 725 ILCS 5/103-3.

41. Members of Plaintiff's family came to the police station where Plaintiff was being held along with a lawyer, Stephen Wham Cary, whom they had hired to meet with and advise Plaintiff. The Defendant Officers refused to inform Plaintiff that a lawyer was present seeking to meet with him and falsely told Mr. Cary and Plaintiff's family that Plaintiff did not want to meet with Mr. Cary. As the Defendant Officers well knew, this course of action was in plain violation of the Illinois constitution as explained in the 1994 decision of People v. McCauley, 645 N.E.2d 923 (Ill. 1994).

42. The Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri took advantage of Plaintiff's vulnerabilities. Plaintiff was a very recent high school graduate who lived at home with his mother. Although Plaintiff had completed high school, his intellectual abilities were limited. His grades were poor and his performance on standardized testing placed him at low levels in mathematics, science and reading.

43. In addition to his youth and limited intellectual abilities, Plaintiff was inexperienced with the criminal justice system. His only prior arrest was for disorderly conduct, a minor charge that was dismissed in short order. Plaintiff had never before been the subject of an interrogation conducted by highly sophisticated police officers. As the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri well knew and intended, Plaintiff became increasingly terrified and desperate as the interrogation wore on.

44. The Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri knowingly exacerbated Plaintiff's vulnerabilities by depriving him of sleep and adequate nourishment during their excessively long interrogation. The interrogation room had no accommodation for sleeping; it was furnished only with a chair and a small wooden bench. The Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri entered and exited the room repeatedly throughout the night and the day and the second night of Plaintiff's confinement, giving Plaintiff no opportunity for extended sleep—even assuming that sleep would have been possible in that environment.

45. During his 34 hours under interrogation, the only food that the Defendant Officers provided to Plaintiff was two bags of chips, three sandwiches (only one of which Plaintiff was able to consume because he was too terrified to eat) and some mints. The Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri knew that this amount of food was inadequate to nourish Plaintiff over the course of the extended interrogation.

46. As the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri knew and intended, the sleep deprivation and inadequate nourishment had the effect of further limiting Plaintiff's cognitive functioning, judgment, memory and ability to resist their pressure and coercion.

47. Under the foregoing conditions, and knowing Plaintiff's vulnerabilities, the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri knowingly and intentionally employed illegal and coercive questioning to overcome Plaintiff's will and force him to make inculpatory statements. The coercive questioning included but was not limited to:

- a. Providing Plaintiff with false information concerning the status of the investigation, for example, by telling Plaintiff that "all" the witnesses in the Park agreed that RJ was the only person with a gun on the night of August 30.

- b. Questioning Plaintiff with raised and angry voices, causing him on multiple occasions to request that the Defendant Officers keep their voices down.
- c. Belittling and mocking Plaintiff for wanting to call his mother.
- d. Feeding Plaintiff the information that the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri wanted Plaintiff to state—including the wording of the threats RJ had supposedly made in the car on the way to the Park.
- e. Refusing to accept Plaintiff's repeated and emphatic denials that he knew RJ had a gun while the boys were en route to the Park and Plaintiff's denials that RJ had made threatening statements—even when Plaintiff denied knowledge about the gun more than 40 times in response to the Defendant Officers' and Defendant Spizzirri's insistent and repetitive questioning. For example, more than 30 hours into the interrogation, when Plaintiff had still not sufficiently inculpated himself, Defendant Spizzirri insisted that there was in Plaintiff's mind a "little ... voice that talks to you" that, if Plaintiff listened, would encourage him to provide "just a little more truth."
- f. Threatening Plaintiff that, if Plaintiff did not tell them what they wanted to hear (i.e., provide an account that was "the truth"—and in which Plaintiff implicated himself as an accessory to murder), Plaintiff would go to prison for many years (e.g., "We're going to stretch it. 24 hours could lead to 24 years, depending on what you say." ". . . . you'll be taking that bus ride to Joliet" Prisons are "ugly" and "not nice places.")
- g. Repeatedly implying and suggesting to Plaintiff that, by "telling the truth" he could avoid these consequences and go home. For example, Defendant Spizzirri, in violation of her ethical responsibilities, went so far as to provide Plaintiff with the false and erroneous legal advice that it was in Plaintiff's best interests to "tell the truth"—i.e., implicate himself in the murder.

- h. Causing Plaintiff to internalize the Defendants' false paradigm that by insisting on his innocence he would cause himself to go to prison, but by confessing to involvement would be allowed to go home. As Plaintiff put it during the interrogation: "I'm scared that, like, if I don't—if I tell you I didn't see [RJ] with the gun, I didn't know he had a gun, I'm going to jail. But if I tell you he have the gun, I'll go home ... That's what I'm scared about." After bending to Defendants' will and making inculpatory statements near the end of the interrogation, Plaintiff asked if he could go home.

48. After more than 30 hours, exhausted, terrified, confused and utterly worn down by the grueling interrogation, Plaintiff made a series of statements indicating that, during the ride to the Park, RJ had threatened that he would "fuck up" the young men at the Park and that Plaintiff understood that to mean that RJ intended to shoot at the young men. Plaintiff also asserted that RJ said the young men in the Park were "gonna die." Despite the extended, coercive questioning, Plaintiff never unequivocally said that he knew RJ was armed before they arrived at the Park. The most Plaintiff would say was "I knew he had a gun but I wasn't certain." And, very shortly, Plaintiff retracted even that statement, insisting again that he did not know RJ to be armed.

49. The Officer Defendants prepared a police report that omitted any mention of any of the coercion that they and Defendant Spizzirri had used to gain Plaintiff's inculpatory admissions. In particular, the police report failed to disclose the exculpatory information that the Defendant Officers had turned away Mr. Cary, Plaintiff's lawyer, at the police station without informing Plaintiff of Mr. Cary's presence there. The Defendant Officers' report also falsely stated that Plaintiff had unequivocally confessed to knowing RJ to be armed during the ride to the Park.

50. Plaintiff's admissions near the end of the interrogation were false and coerced and the result of the coercive and illegal interrogation practices of the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri. Plaintiff's sole purpose in going to the Park was to find Eugene Staniel, with whom he was on good terms, to encourage Staniel to help make peace between the young women who were arguing. Plaintiff did not know that RJ was armed that night. Plaintiff did not enter the Park in the company of RJ. Plaintiff had no involvement in RJ's decision to shoot a gun on the night of August 30.

PLAINTIFF'S CONVICTION

51. Plaintiff and RJ were tried in a joint bench trial before Cook County Judge Thomas Gainer on periodic dates between November 2009 and September 2011 for the murder of Paris Jackson.

52. During the trial, Defendant Mancuso was permitted to read the police report that inaccurately and incompletely described Plaintiff's statements during the course of the interrogation. This evidence was the only evidence of Plaintiff's guilt. No other evidence linked Plaintiff to any shooting on the night of August 30, 2008.

53. During his testimony, Defendant Mancuso did not disclose the coercive measures that he, the other Officer Defendants and Defendant Spizzirri had employed in order to obtain Plaintiff's admissions. Nor did Defendant Mancuso disclose that he and the other Officer Defendants had violated the rule of People v. McCauley by falsely telling Mr. Cary, the lawyer who appeared at the police station to represent Plaintiff, that Plaintiff did not wish to speak with Mr. Cary.

54. As a result of the above-described misconduct on the part of the Defendants, Plaintiff was wrongfully convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to serve 35 years in prison.

PLAINTIFF'S EXONERATION

55. Throughout his prosecution and incarceration, Plaintiff continued to maintain his innocence and pursued all possible legal avenues to prove it.

56. On June 19, 2018, following an evidentiary hearing, the Circuit Court of Cook County entered an order vacating Plaintiff's conviction and ordering a new trial. The decision was based on testimony from Stephen Wham Cary, the lawyer whom the Defendant Officers turned away from the police station in September 2008; from Plaintiff's mother, who produced a bank record corroborating that she had used an ATM machine at the police station to pay Mr. Cary for representing Plaintiff; and from Plaintiff, who denied ever knowing that a lawyer had asked to meet with him when he was under interrogation. The court concluded that Plaintiff's continued interrogation was manifestly illegal under McCauley and that Plaintiff's conviction could not be sustained without the confession.

57. Four weeks later, on July 18, 2018, the Cook County State's Attorney dismissed all charges against Plaintiff, ending the criminal case against him.

58. On March 7, 2019, Plaintiff filed a Petition in the Circuit Court of Cook County for a Certificate of Innocence. The Circuit Court granted the Petition on June 7, 2019.

THE CITY'S POLICIES AND PRACTICES ARE THE MOVING FORCE BEHIND THE DEFENDANT OFFICERS' MISCONDUCT

59. The Defendant Officers' egregious misconduct in this case was not an isolated occurrence. It was undertaken pursuant to, and proximately caused by, the de facto policies and practices of the City of Chicago, acting through the CPD and its officers, which were in place at all relevant times.

60. Plaintiff was coerced into giving false and inculpatory statements pursuant to these municipal policies and practices. The CPD and its detectives and police officers have a long history of using physically and psychologically coercive interrogation tactics in order to elicit statements from suspects and witnesses in criminal cases, causing scores of false confessions and wrongful convictions in the City of Chicago.

61. At all relevant times, the City of Chicago had a policy and practice of coercing false confessions from those in police custody and using these statements to obtain wrongful convictions. Pursuant to this municipal policy and practice, CPD officers used interrogation tactics identical or similar to those employed by the Defendants in this case to extract confessions. These tactics included: (a) psychological intimidation and manipulation; (b) the use of clearly unreliable or coerced informants and/or witnesses; (c) the fabrication of confessions; (d) the misleading of parents/guardians and denial of access to their children during interrogations; (e) the denial of access to counsel; (f) the concealment of exculpatory information; (g) false promises of leniency in exchange for "cooperation" in the form of a confession; (h) sleep and food deprivation; and (i) the use of other unlawful tactics to secure the arrest, prosecution, and conviction of persons, including juveniles and teenagers, without regard to their actual guilt or innocence of the offense.

62. In particular, at the time of the events alleged herein, the CPD had a practice of conducting lengthy, coercive interrogations of persons whom they had secreted at police facilities, among them the Homan Square facility, so that they could not be located or contacted by family members or by lawyers seeking to represent them. This practice included lying to family members and attorneys about the location and status of persons in CPD custody as police investigators worked to obtain confessions from those individuals.

63. Juveniles and young adults like Plaintiff were the most vulnerable targets of these municipal policies. Law enforcement officers are trained to know that youth are inherently more suggestible, susceptible to manipulation, and frequently lack the ability to fully understand their rights—let alone assert them—during an interrogation. As a matter of widespread custom and practice, CPD officers exploited the vulnerability and suggestibility of the youth in their custody in order to obtain false confessions and close open cases. CPD detectives systematically denied juvenile and teenage suspects access to their guardians and to counsel, fed them details of the crime, made false promises of leniency, and generally subjected these youth to immense physical and psychological pressure until they “confessed.”

64. Also pursuant to municipal policy and practice, members of the CPD systematically suppressed evidence pertaining to the fabricated and coerced confessions obtained in interrogations. This exculpatory information was concealed both from trial attorneys within the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and from criminal defendants and their counsel. In furtherance of this municipal policy and practice, CPD officers repeatedly committed perjury while testifying in criminal proceedings in order to conceal their use of coercive interrogation techniques.

65. At all relevant times, the City of Chicago also had in place de facto policies and practices by which CPD officers were led to believe they could act with impunity, which served to facilitate and further their misconduct. These policies and practices included: failing to identify and track officers who commit serious misconduct; failing to investigate cases in which CPD officers are implicated in obtaining coerced and false confessions, as well as unfounded charges and wrongful convictions; failing to meaningfully discipline officers accused of such unlawful conduct; and facilitating a code of silence within the CPD. Pursuant to the City's code of silence, CPD officers were trained and required to lie or remain silent about misconduct committed on the job by their fellow officers.

66. The City of Chicago's failure to train, supervise, and discipline its officers effectively condoned, ratified, and sanctioned the kind of misconduct that the Defendant Officers committed against Plaintiff.

67. The City of Chicago and officials within the CPD failed to act to remedy the abuses described in the preceding paragraphs, despite actual knowledge of the patterns of misconduct. They thereby perpetuated these unlawful practices and ensured that no action would be taken (independent of the judicial process) to remedy Plaintiff's ongoing wrongful incarceration.

68. All of the policies and practices described in the foregoing paragraphs were knowingly approved by City of Chicago policymakers, who were deliberately indifferent to the fact that CPD officers systematically violated the rights of the people they were sworn to protect.

MARCEL BROWN'S DAMAGES

69. Plaintiff was incarcerated for almost a decade for a crime he did not commit. He must now attempt to make a life for himself outside of prison without the benefit of that decade of life experiences in young adulthood that normally equip adults for the task.

70. Plaintiff's emotional pain and suffering stemming from the loss of these formative years has been substantial. During his incarceration, Plaintiff was stripped of the basic pleasures of human experience, from the simplest to the most important, which all free people enjoy as a matter of right. He missed the opportunity to begin living independently, to share holidays, births, funerals, and other life events with loved ones, to have girlfriends, to fall in love, to marry, and to pursue an occupation, and the fundamental freedom to live his life as an autonomous human being.

71. As a result, Plaintiff has suffered tremendous damage, including but not limited to physical harm, mental suffering, and loss of a normal life, all proximately caused by Defendants' misconduct.

Count I – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
Violation of Due Process
(Fourteenth Amendment)

72. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

73. As described more fully above, all of the Defendant Officers, acting individually, jointly, and/or in conspiracy, deprived Plaintiff of his constitutional right to due process and to a fair trial.

74. In the manner described more fully above, the Defendant Officers fabricated false inculpatory statements from Plaintiff and from others, deliberately withheld and suppressed exculpatory evidence from the prosecutors and defense counsel, and fabricated false reports and other evidence, thereby causing the wrongful prosecution of Plaintiff. Absent this misconduct, the criminal prosecution of Plaintiff could not and would not have been pursued.

75. The Defendant Officers' misconduct directly resulted in the unjust criminal conviction and continuing wrongful incarceration of Plaintiff, thereby denying him his constitutional right to a fair trial, in violation of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

76. As a result of this violation of his constitutional right to a fair trial, Plaintiff suffered injuries, including but not limited to the loss of his liberty, physical harm, severe emotional distress and anguish.

77. The misconduct described in this Count was objectively unreasonable and was undertaken intentionally, with malice and willful indifference to Plaintiff's clearly established constitutional rights.

Count II – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
Coerced and Inculpatory Statements (Fifth Amendment and Fourteenth Amendment)

78. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

79. In the manner described more fully above, the Defendants, including the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri, individually, jointly, and in conspiracy with one another, as well as under color of law and within the scope of their employment, conducted an unconstitutional interrogation of Plaintiff, and coerced him into making involuntary statements implicating himself as an accessory to RJ's supposed murder of Paris Jackson, in violation of Plaintiff's rights secured by the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments.

80. The false and involuntary inculpatory statement Defendants obtained from Plaintiff was used against Plaintiff to his detriment in his criminal case. This statement was the only reason that Plaintiff was prosecuted for and convicted as RJ's accomplice in the murder of Paris Jackson.

81. The misconduct described in this Count was objectively unreasonable and was undertaken intentionally, with malice, with reckless indifference to the rights of others, and in total disregard of the truth and Plaintiff's innocence.

82. As a result of this violation of his constitutional right to a fair trial, Plaintiff suffered injuries, including but not limited to the loss of his liberty, physical harm, severe emotional distress and anguish.

Count III – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
Failure to Intervene

83. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

84. In the manner described above, during the constitutional violations described herein, one or more of the Defendants, including the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri, stood by without intervening to prevent the violation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights, even though they had a reasonable opportunity to do so.

85. The misconduct described in this Count was objectively unreasonable and was undertaken intentionally with willful indifference to Plaintiff's constitutional rights.

86. As a result of the misconduct described in this count, Plaintiff suffered injuries, including but not limited to the loss of his liberty, physical harm, severe emotional distress and anguish.

Count IV – 42 U.S.C. § 1983
Conspiracy to Deprive Constitutional Rights

87. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

88. After the death of Paris Jackson, the Defendant Officers, acting within the scope of their employment and under color of law, agreed among themselves and with other individuals to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights, including his rights to due process and to a fair trial, all as described in the various paragraphs of this Complaint.

89. Before and after Plaintiff's conviction, the Defendant Officers further conspired to deprive him of exculpatory information to which he was lawfully entitled and which would have led to his not being charged, his acquittal, or his more timely exoneration.

90. In furtherance of this conspiracy, each of the Defendant Officers engaged in and facilitated overt acts, including but not limited to those set forth above—fabricating evidence, withholding exculpatory evidence, and obtaining involuntary statements—and was an otherwise willful participant in joint activity.

91. After the death of Paris Jackson, Defendant Spizzirri, acting within the scope of her employment and under color of law, agreed with the Defendant Officers and other individuals to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional right against compelled self-incrimination, as provided for by the Fifth Amendment, and described in the various paragraphs of this Complaint. Defendant Spizzirri further agreed with the Defendant Officers and other individuals to fabricate Plaintiff's false statement as alleged in the various paragraphs of this Complaint, including in Count I.

92. In furtherance of this conspiracy, Defendant Spizzirri engaged in and facilitated overt acts, including but not limited to obtaining involuntary statements from Plaintiff through leading and suggestive questioning and concealing evidence of the coercive tactics, and was an otherwise willful participant in joint activity.

93. As a direct and proximate result of the illicit prior agreements and actions in furtherance of the conspiracies referenced above, Plaintiff's rights were violated, and he suffered injuries, including but not limited to loss of liberty, physical harm, and emotional distress.

Count V – 42 U.S.C. §1983
Municipal Liability

94. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

95. The actions of the individual Defendant Officers were undertaken pursuant to the policies and practices of the CPD, described above and below, which included (1) failing to supervise, discipline and control Chicago Police officers and (2) maintaining a code of silence within the CPD, all of which facilitated the Defendant Officers' misconduct here.

96. These policies and practices were ratified by policymakers for the City of Chicago with final policymaking authority.

97. At all times material to this Complaint, Defendant City of Chicago, through its Police Department, the Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA), Police Superintendents, Police Board, Mayor, City Council and/or Corporation Counsel's Office, had interrelated de facto policies, practices, and customs which included, inter alia:

- a. conducting physically, psychologically, or otherwise illegal or improperly coercive interrogations of witnesses, suspects and arrestees, in order to obtain confessions, including from juveniles and teenagers;
- b. manufacturing, fabricating, and/or using improper suggestive tactics to obtain statements from suspects and witnesses, particularly juveniles and teenagers;
- c. secreting suspects in police facilities and preventing family members and attorneys seeking to represent the suspects from contacting those suspects while police worked to obtain confessions from those suspects;
- d. filing false police reports, and giving false statements and testimony about these interrogations, confessions, and witness statements;
- e. suppressing evidence concerning the circumstances of these interrogations and confessions;
- f. pursuing and obtaining prosecutions and incarceration on the basis of confessions obtained during these interrogations, and otherwise covering up the true nature of the interrogations, confessions, and witness statements;
- g. failing to properly train, supervise, discipline, transfer, monitor, counsel, and/or otherwise control police officers, particularly those who were repeatedly accused of physically, psychologically, or otherwise illegally or improperly engaging in coercive questioning or interrogation of witnesses, suspects and arrestees; of torture and related physical abuse of suspects; of false arrests, wrongful imprisonments, malicious prosecutions, and wrongful convictions; and/or of making false reports and statements;

- h. the police code of silence, specifically in cases where officers engaged in the violations articulated in paragraphs a through e, above, whereby police officers refused to report or otherwise covered up instances of police misconduct, and/or fabricated, suppressed, and/or destroyed evidence of which they were aware, despite their obligation under the law and police regulations to so report. This code of silence also has resulted in police officers either remaining silent or giving false and misleading information, and/or testimony during official investigations and grand jury proceedings, in order to protect themselves and/or fellow officers from internal discipline, civil liability, or criminal charges, and perjuring themselves in criminal cases where they and/or their fellow officers have been accused of misconduct.

98. The interrelated pattern and practices alleged above were or should have been well known within the CPD, both before and after Plaintiff was interrogated and wrongfully convicted, as well as by successive mayors, police superintendents and OPS and IPRA directors, and by the Chicago City Council and the Chicago Police Board, and other policy-making, command, and supervisory City and police personnel, who participated in the cover-up and/or continuation of the policies and practices for years.

99. The interrelated policies, practices, and customs set forth above, both individually and together, were maintained and implemented with deliberate indifference. They encouraged, inter alia, the coercing of statements from suspects, witnesses, and arrestees, particularly from juveniles and other teenagers; the construction and fabrication of confessions, admissions, statements, and other false witness evidence; the suppression and destruction of exculpatory evidence, the intimidation of witnesses, the making of false statements and reports, the giving of false testimony, and the obstruction of justice; and the pursuit and continuation of wrongful convictions and false arrests and imprisonments. The interrelated policies, practices and customs set forth above were, separately and together, a direct and proximate cause (i.e. a moving force) of the unconstitutional acts committed by the Defendant Officers and their co-conspirators, and the injuries suffered by Plaintiff, including his wrongful conviction and imprisonment.

100. The City of Chicago's failure to properly train, discipline, monitor, control, assign, transfer, supervise, and counsel the Defendant Officers was also done with deliberate indifference and likewise acted as a direct and proximate cause (i.e. a moving force) of the injuries to Plaintiff.

Count VI – State Law Claim Malicious Prosecution

101. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

102. The Defendant Officers, despite knowing that probable cause did not exist to charge Plaintiff for the murder of Paris Jackson, acted individually, jointly, and/or in concert and in conspiracy, to cause Plaintiff to be arrested and prosecuted for that crime. The Defendant Officers made statements to trial prosecutors with the intent of exerting influence and to institute and continue the unjust judicial proceedings. The Defendant Officers played a substantial role in the commencement and continuation of the prosecution of Plaintiff.

103. Specifically, the Defendant Officers were aware that, as described more fully above, no true or reliable evidence implicated Plaintiff in the death of Paris Jackson. There was no proof that RJ had fired the shot that struck and killed Paris Jackson. There was no evidence that Plaintiff possessed a gun at any time on the night of August 30. There was no proof that Plaintiff was present with RJ when RJ allegedly fired shots in the direction of young men in Amundsen Park who had first fired at RJ. There was no evidence, in sum, that connected Plaintiff in any way to the death of Paris Jackson. In the absence of any such evidence, the Defendant Officers coerced false, inculpatory statements from Plaintiff in the course of an excessively long interrogation during which Plaintiff was cut-off and isolated from all contact with the outside world—including from a lawyer who had been hired to represent Plaintiff and was attempting to speak with him, in plain violation of the law. Furthermore, the Defendant

Officers intentionally withheld from and misrepresented to trial prosecutors and the grand jury facts that further vitiated probable cause against Plaintiff, as set forth above, and failed to investigate evidence that could have led to the actual assailant(s). The Defendant Officers performed the above-described acts deliberately, with malice, and with reckless disregard for Plaintiff's rights.

104. On July 18, 2018, the Cook County State's Attorney's Office nolle prossed Plaintiff's case, and on June 7, 2019, the Circuit Court of Cook County awarded Plaintiff a Certificate of Innocence, which constitutes a termination of the criminal proceedings in his favor.

105. As a direct and proximate result of this misconduct, Plaintiff sustained, and continues to sustain, injuries as set forth above, including pain and suffering.

Count VII – State Law Claim
Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress

106. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

107. The acts and conduct of the Defendants, including the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri, as set forth above were extreme and outrageous. The Defendants' actions were rooted in an abuse of power or authority, and they were undertaken with intent to cause, or were in reckless disregard of the probability that their conduct would cause, severe emotional distress to Plaintiff, as is more fully alleged above.

108. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' actions, Plaintiff suffered and continues to suffer severe emotional distress.

Count VIII – State Law Claim
Civil Conspiracy

109. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

110. As described more fully in the preceding paragraphs, the Defendants, including the Defendant Officers and Defendant Spizzirri, acting in concert with other known and unknown co-conspirators, conspired by concerted action to accomplish an unlawful purpose by unlawful means.

111. In furtherance of the conspiracy, the Defendant Officers committed unlawful overt acts and was an otherwise willful participant in joint activity including but not limited to the malicious prosecution of Plaintiff and the intentional infliction of emotional distress upon him.

112. In furtherance of the conspiracy, Defendant Spizzirri committed unlawful overt acts and was otherwise willful participants in joint activity including but not limited to the intentional infliction of emotional distress upon Plaintiff.

113. The misconduct described in this Count was undertaken intentionally, with malice, willfulness, and reckless indifference to the rights of others.

114. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' conspiracies, Plaintiff suffered damages, including severe emotional distress and anguish, as is more fully alleged above.

Count IX – State Law Claim
Respondeat Superior

115. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

116. In committing the acts alleged in the preceding paragraphs, each of the Defendant Officers were members of, and agents of, the CPD, acting at all relevant times within the scope of their employment and under color of law.

117. Defendant City of Chicago is liable as principal for all torts in violation of state law committed by its agents.

Count X – State Law Claim
Indemnification

118. Each paragraph of this Complaint is incorporated as if restated fully herein.

119. Illinois law provides that public entities are directed to pay any tort judgment for compensatory damages for which its employees are liable within the scope of their employment activities.

120. The Defendant Officers are or were employees of the CPD who acted within the scope of their employment in committing the misconduct described herein.

121. Defendant Spizzirri was at all times material to this complaint the employee of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, and Defendant Cook County is therefore responsible for any judgment entered against Defendant Spizzirri and for any judgment entered against her arising from said employment with the County, making the County a necessary party to this complaint.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, MARCEL BROWN, respectfully requests that this Court enter judgment in his favor and against Defendants MICHAEL MANCUSO; GERI YANOW, Personal Representative of the Estate of KEVIN McDONALD; GARRICK TURNER; RUBIN WEBER; STEVE CZABLEWSKI; WILLIAM BURKE; CITY OF CHICAGO; MICHELLE SPIZZIRRI and COUNTY OF COOK, ILLINOIS awarding compensatory damages, attorneys' fees, and costs against each Defendant, and punitive damages against each of the individual Defendants (other than Geri Yanow as Personal Representative of the Estate of Kevin McDonald), as well as any other relief this Court deems appropriate.
